WAS A MURDERER AND RAVISHER

Details of the Barbarous Execution of a Negro at the Hands of the Neighbors of a White Couple, the Victims of His Bestial Lust.

Newnan, Ga., April 24.—Sam Hose, the murderer of Alfred Cranford and the ravisher of his wife, was burned at the stake two miles from here in the presence of 2,500 people.

Hose had been on the farm of the Jones brothers, between Macon and Columbus, since the day after he committed his horrible crime. His mother is employed on the farm, and to her little cabin he fled as a safe refuge. She fed him and cared for him, but it is not believed that she knew he was being hunted for by the authorities. The Jones brothers were not aware of the crime until a few days ago, and were not sure that he was the much-wanted man.

Saturday one of the Jones boys met Hose, and as he was talking to him noticed that his "ginger" face was ebony black. Just below the collar of his shirt the copper color was discernible. Convinced that the negro had blackened his face to escape detection, Jones became certain that he was the negro for whom the authorities, assisted by bloodhounds, had been scouring the country for ten days, and they determined to arrest him. Sunday morning they brought the negro into Macon and put him aboard a train with the intention of bringing him to Atlanta.

At Griffin some one recognized Hose and sent word to Newnan, the next station, that the negro was on the train bound for Atlanta. When Newnan was reached a great crowd surrounded the train and pushed into the cars. The Jones brothers were told that the negro could be delivered to the sheriff of Campbell county there, and that it was not necessary to take him to Atlanta. This was acceded to, and the negro was taken off the train and marched at the head of a yelling, shouting crowd of people to the jail. Here they turned him over to Sheriff Brown, taking a receipt for the prisoner, thus making themselves sure of the $250 reward for the "arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Campbell county of one Sam Hose."

Word was sent to Mrs. Cranford at Palmetto that it was believed Hose was under arrest and that her presence was necessary in Newnan to make sure of the identification. In some way the news of the arrest leaked out and as the town has been alert for nearly two weeks the intelligence spread rapidly. From every house in the little city came its occupants, and a good-sized crowd was soon gathered about the jail.

TURNED OVER TO THE MOB.

Sheriff Brown was importuned to give up the prisoner, and finally, in order to avoid an assault upon the jail and possible bloodshed, he turned the wretch over to the waiting crowd. A procession was quickly formed and the doomed negro was marched at its head through several streets of the town. Soon the public square was reached. Here former Governor Atkinson of Georgia, who lives in Newnan, came hurriedly upon the scene and, standing up in a buggy, importuned the crowd to let the law take its course.

The assemblage heard the words of the speaker in silence, but the instant his voice had died away shouts of "On to Palmetto!" "Burn him!" "Think of his crime!" arose and the march was resumed.

Mrs. Cranford's mother and sister are residents of Newnan. The mob was headed in the direction of their house, and in a short time reached the McElroy home. The negro was marched in at the gate and Mrs. Cranford was called to the front door. She at once identified the African and her verdict was agreed to by her daughter, who had often seen Hose around the Cranford place. "To the stake!" was again the cry, and several men wanted to burn him in Mrs. McElroy's yard. To this she objected strenuously, and the mob complying with her wish, started for Palmetto.

Just as they were leaving Newnan word was brought that the 1 o'clock train from Atlanta was bringing 1,000 people to Palmetto. This was thought to be a regiment of militia, and the mob at once decided to burn the prisoner at the first favorable place rather than be compelled to shoot him when the militia put in an appearance.

Leaving the little town the mob, which now numbered nearly 1,500 people, started on the road to Palmetto. A line of buggies and vehicles of all kinds, their drivers fighting for position in line, followed the procession, at the head of which, closely guarded, marched the negro.

One and a half miles out of Newnan a place believed to be favorable for the burning was reached. A little to the side of the road was a strong pine tree. Up to this the negro was marched, his back placed to the tree and his face to the crowd, which assembled closely about him. Here, for the first time, he was allowed to talk. "I am Sam Hose. I killed Alfred Cranford, but was paid to do it. Lige Strickland, the negro preacher at Palmetto, gave me $12 to kill him."

At this a roar went up from the crowd. The intelligence imparted by the wretch was spread among them. "Let him go on; tell all you know about it," came from the crowd. The negro, shivering like a leaf, continued his recital:

"I did not outrage Mrs. Cranford. Somebody else did that. I can identify them. Give me time for that."

The mob would hear no more. The clothes were torn from the wretch in an instant. A heavy chain was produced and wound around the body of the terrified negro, clasped by a new lock, which dangled at Hose's neck. He said not a word to this proceeding, but at the sight of three or four knives flashing in the hands of several members of the crowd about him, which seemed to forecast the terrible ordeal he was about to be put to, he sent up a yell which could be heard for a mile.

Instantly a hand grasping a knife shot out and one of the negro's ears dropped into a hand ready to receive it. Hose pleaded pitifully for mercy and begged his tormentors to let him die. His cries went unheeded. The second ear went the way of the other. Hardly had he been deprived of his organs of hearing before his fingers, one by one, were taken from his hand and passed among the yelling and now thoroughly maddened crowd.

HACKED TO PIECES.

The shrieking negro was quickly deprived of other portions of his anatomy, and the words, "come on with the oil," brought a huge can of kerosene to the foot of the tree where the negro, his body covered with blood from head to foot, was striving and tugging at his chains. The can was lifted over the negro's head by three or four men and its contents poured over him. By this time a good supply of brush, pieces of fence rail and other firewood had been placed about the negro's feet. This pyre was thoroughly saturated and a match applied. A flame shot upward and spread quickly over the pile of wood. As it licked the negro's legs he shrieked once and began tugging at his chains.

As the flames arose higher and the smoke entered his eyes and mouth Hose put the stumps of his hands to the tree back of him and with a terrific plunge forward of his body severed the upper portion of the chains which bound him to the tree. His body, held to the tree only as far as the thighs, lunged forward, thus escaping the flames which roared and crackled about his feet. One of the men nearest the burning negro quickly ran up and pushing him back, said: "Get back into the fire there," and quickly coupled the disjointed links of the chain.

The road for a distance of half a mile on each side of the burning negro was black with conveyances, and was simply impassable. The crowd surrounded the stake on all sides, but none of those nearer than 100 feet of the center was able to see what was going on. Yell after yell went up as the progress of the flames was communicated to those in the rear by those in the rear by shouts by the eye witnesses.

The torch was applied about 2:30, and at 3 o'clock the body of Sam Hose was limp and lifeless, his head hanging to one side. The body was not cut down. It was cut to pieces. The crowd fought for places about the smoldering tree, and with knives secured such pieces of his carcass as did not fall to pieces. The chain was severed by hammers, but the tree was chopped down, and with such pieces of the firewood as had not been burned was carried away as souvenirs.

Was Born in Indiana.

Washington, April 24.—Colonel John Miller Stotsenberg of the First Nebraska Infantry, who held the rank of captain in the regular army, was born in Indiana Nov. 24, 1858, and appointed a cadet at the Military academy July, 1877, and graduated number 41 in his class. He was appointed second lieutenant of the Sixth cavalry in 1881 and became a captain Dec. 14, 1898. He participated in the Sioux campaign in the action at Wounded Knee, S. D.

the Famous Controversy.

CHICAGO PLATFORM AIRED.

New Yorker Accuses the Colonel of Evasion and Asserts That Silver Power Can Not Again Be Burned at a National Convention.

New York, April 24.—Hon. Perry Belmont has written a letter in response to the recent note of Colonel William Jennings Bryan. He says in part:

"The dispute we are in over the Chicago platform was not begun by any word or wish of mine. You were invited to dine with the Democratic club on the anniversary of Jefferson's birthday, which the club has heretofore celebrated. Instead of accepting or declining the invitation, you asked my present opinion of the Chicago platform of three years ago. I replied for the club that individual opinions had nothing to do with the invitation. Thereupon you sent to me a personal letter describing me as a Republican masquerading as a Democrat, as unfit to celebrate the anniversary of Jefferson's birthday because I condemned the Chicago platform and your candidacy.

"You condemn me because I did not support that in 1896, and because I would prevent such delirium in 1900. Had the Chicago platform not urged the immediate free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on a ratio of 16 to 1, but awaited the commercial bullion parity of the white and yellow metals before compelling creditors to accept the former, the scheme would have been more tolerable. You well know that our silver dollars are now in our country kept equal to the gold dollars simply and solely by restricted coinage of the former, and by controlling exchange demand. You ought to know that if our gold and silver dollars shall be at commercial par on the ratio of 16 and France shall open her mints again on the ratio of 15½, then, since in our country 16 ounces of silver would be required to buy one ounce of gold, our silver would, just as it did in 1834, go to France, where only 15½ ounces would be needed.

"In your unwarranted letter to me of March 16 you arraign my political opinions because, as you assert, they are hostile to those of Jefferson, 'who stood for sacred, well defined principles.' Jefferson was by you made the standard and the test. In order to gratify your desire to know my opinions I mailed to you a correct record of all I had said or written on the Chicago platform since the election of 1896. I did not, as you wrote in your letter of the 8th inst., to which I am now replying, ask you to point out objections. I said: 'You are at liberty to indicate and expose any portion that is unpatriotic, un-Democratic, un-American or in conflict with the Democratic creed as set forth in Jefferson's first inaugural address.' You reply that they have not a standard by which to determine whether a given opinion is patriotic or American. I had suspected as much.

"On the issue raised by yourself over Jefferson you endeavor to make not his state papers the test of Democracy, but the innovations your co-conspirators, chiefly Republicans, inserted in the Chicago platform. You complain of our first Democratic platform, which was Jefferson's inaugural address, that it dealt only 'with general principles.' Of course it did. It is the function of a platform, in the American sense, to deal with questions the conditions of which are permanent. Jefferson did, however, insist 'on honest payment of our debts, and sacred preservation of the public faith,' which you ignore in your unreasoning spite against creditors. In your hatred of creditors you ignore the public credit.

"I put to you in my letter two or three questions easily capable of an affirmative or negative reply. One was, 'Do you deem the money question as presented in the Chicago platform as now paramount to all others?' You evade. Another was, 'Do you insist on the infallibility of the coinage ratio of 16 to 1 as a test of Democracy?' You again evade. Another was, 'Must all Democratic voters line up in 1900 on a federal statute making every contract illegal which stipulates for payment in gold?' You evade again. Another was, 'Will a law preventing wage earners and salary earners from demanding and securing payment in gold dollars, if they prefer gold dollars, be a winning issue in 1900?' You again evade.

"You go out of your way as a defeated presidential candidate of three years ago, and an aspirant for re-nomination, to condemn my Democratic opinions. I have no wish to suppress what I did at Chicago, and have subsequently done in that regard. I am perfectly content with my course. The platform of 1896 came from the hard times, which disappeared when the peril of Populism and silver monometallism had passed. That powder can not by you be burned again in a Democratic national convention."

HAD THE BLUES.

Bad Suicide of Colonel Clark, the Famous Kentucky Turfman.

Memphis, April 24.—The remains of Colonel M. Lewis Clark, the widely known turfman who committed suicide in his room at a hotel here, were taken to Louisville by sorrowing friends.

The announcement of Colonel Clark's sensational suicide spread rapidly on the streets, and only ejaculations of surprise could be heard. Only intimate friends were acquainted with the dead turfman's melancholy condition, and many devotees of the turf at first refused to believe the startling news. Ill health and consequent despondency, coupled with other probable troubles, are assigned as the cause of the desperate act. It is a generally accepted fact that Colonel Clark was the lessee of the Harlem racetrack in Chicago, despite the assertion of close friends, who say that he was not interested in a financial way in that association. Colonel Clark had been worried a great deal over the outlook for races at Harlem this season.

Good Citizenship League.

Cincinnati, April 24.—An elaborate program has been proposed by Secretary S. C. Nicholson for the third annual convention here of the National Good Citizenship league. Mayor S. M. Jones of Toledo, candidate for governor; Rev. Sam P. Jones, the Georgia evangelist; Rev. Dwight L. Moody, Governor Pingree and representatives of all the reform organizations and leading thinkers and lecturers are among those who will deliver addresses. The convention begins May 2 and continues four days.

Baird's Remains.

Washington, April 24.—Religious services over the remains of the late Representative Samuel L. Baird of Louisiana, who died here Saturday, were held here. Rev. R. H. McKim of the Church of the Epiphany officiated. There were many floral offerings, including a magnificent cross of roses and lilies from the Louisiana delegation in congress, and a beautiful Masonic emblem from the State Lodge of Louisiana. The body was placed in a private car and conveyed to Bastrop, La.

After the Foreigner.

Peking, April 24.—The reactionary attitude of the Chinese government toward foreign residents is creating for them an intolerable situation which can not be prolonged. Promises made by the Chinese foreign office are of no value unless approved by the grand council, a majority of whose members are bitterly hostile to foreigners and foreign influences. Unless some change takes place soon, it is believed the powers will remonstrate directly to the empress dowager.

Ireland to Speak.

Washington, April 24.—It is learned that Archbishop Ireland will deliver the principal discourse at the Joan of Arc celebration on May 8 at the old French town of Orleans, which gave the name of the 'Maid of Orleans' to the girl saint and soldier. The exercises will have both a religious and national character, bringing pilgrimages from all parts of Europe, and having the special benediction of the pope.

Money in Sight.

St. Louis, April 24.—Almost the entire $5,000,000 that the citizens of St. Louis have raised to clinch the proposition of holding a world's fair here is in sight. With the $2,644,670 announced at the mass meeting as subscribed, $1,600,000 has been pledged but not formally subscribed. This brings the amount already in sight up to $4,244,670.

Charges Against a Tramp.

Toledo, April 24.—A tramp giving the name of Frederick Wagoner, who was recently arrested and brought to Toledo, has been recognized as a man wanted for numerous postoffice robberies throughout Ohio. Wagoner, when arrested, had in his possession $4,000 worth of negotiable papers, besides a large number of stamps.

Wholesale Drowning.

Oak Hill, Fla., April 24.—The steamer General Whitney, Captain Hawthorne, sunk 50 miles east of Cape Cerverel. One boatload of 16 men, attempting to land at Mosquito lagoon house of refuge, was upset and 12 men, including the captain, were drowned. Fifteen men in another boat are still unheard from.

Both Boys Lost.

Ashtabula, O., April 24.—Cecil Brown, 15, and Rex Spaulding, 12, were playing on a raft when the former fell into the water. The latter in attempting to assist his playmate also fell in, and both were drowned.

ENEMY QUIT WITH SMALL LOSS

Outcome of a Daring Flying Charge on a Horseshoe Barricade, Behind Which a Large Band of Filipinos Were Safely
Sheltered.

Manilla, April 24.—In an encounter with the Filipinos near Quingna, about four miles northeast of Malolos, seven Americans were killed and 44 wounded.

The following were killed: Colonel John M. Stotsenberg of the First Nebraska regiment, formerly of the Sixth cavalry; Lieutenant Sisson (perhaps Lieutenant August C. Sisson) of the same regiment; two privates of the Nebraska regiment; three privates of the Fourth cavalry.

Most of the wounded belong to the First Nebraska regiment. The Filipinos retreated with small loss.

The engagement developed into a disastrous, though successful, fight. The insurgents had a horseshoe trench, about a mile long, encircling a rice field on the edge of a wood. Captain Bell, with 40 cavalymen, encountered a strong post. One of his men was killed and five were wounded by a volley.

The Americans retired, carrying their wounded under fire and with great difficulty, being closely pursued, a fog enabling the enemy to creep up to them. Two men who were carrying a comrade were shot in the arms, but they continued with their burden.

Captain Bell sent for reinforcements to rescue the body of the killed cavalryman, and a battalion of the Nebraska regiment, under Major Mulford, arrived and advanced until checked by volleys from the enemy's trenches.

The Americans lay about 800 yards from the trenches, behind rice furrows, under fire for two hours. Several men were sunstruck, one dying from the effects of the heat as they lay there waiting for the artillery to come up.

Finally the Second battalion arrived, and then Colonel Stotsenberg, who had spent the night with his father at Manilla, came upon the field. The men immediately recognized him and raised a cheer.

Colonel Stotsenberg, deciding to charge as the cheapest way out of the difficulty, led the attack at the head of his regiment. He fell with a bullet in the breast, dying instantly, about 200 yards from the breastworks. Lieutenant Sisson fell with a bullet in the heart, the bullet striking him near a picture of a girl suspended by a ribbon from his neck.

In the meantime the artillery arrived and shelled the trenches. The Filipinos stood until the Nebraska troops were right on the trenches, and then they bolted to the second line of intrenchments a mile back.

The Nebraska regiment lost two privates and had many wounded, including two lieutenants. The Iowa regiment had several wounded. The Utah regiment had one officer and three men wounded. Thirteen dead Filipinos were found dead in the trench. Their loss was comparatively small on account of their safe shelter.

The Americans carried the second trench with small loss and are now holding the town.

Official From Otis.

Washington, April 24.—The following message regarding the fight at Quingna was received at the war department from Major General Otis: "A reconnaissance on Quingna place, six miles northeast of Malolos, made by Major Bell and a troop of cavalry, resulted in contact and battle, in which four battalions of infantry and four pieces of artillery became engaged. Enemy driven from intrenchments at Quingna with considerable loss; our casualties quite severe. Colonel Stotsenberg and Lieutenant Sessions, First Nebraska, killed; also several enlisted men. Considerable number wounded."

Toledo, April 24.—A meeting was held here at which over 40 ex-sailors of the Spanish war were present, the object of the conference being to form a society of sailors, to have a membership of all sailors who served during the late war. It will follow the lines of the Grand Army, and it is expected to extend the association to all the principal cities of the country.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

At a meeting held by the Democratic State Executive Committee in the city of Lexington on March 8th, 1899, it was ordered that a State convention be held in Louisville on Wednesday, June 21st, 1899, for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State officers to be voted for November 7th, 1899, the convention to be called to order at 11 o'clock a. m.

Delegates to said State convention shall be chosen at county mass conventions to be held at the various county court houses in counties having but one legislative district, of which due notice shall be given by the various County Committees. In counties having more than one legislative district there shall be a convention for each legislative district to be held at some convenient point to be indicated by the Chairman of the Legislative District Committee, who shall advertise in the local papers the location for said convention at least ten days prior to the date fixed by this committee. Said county and legislative district conventions shall be held at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, on June 17th, 1899. Said conventions shall be called to order by the Chairman of the respective County or Legislative District Committees.

The basis of representation of each county to the said State convention shall be one delegate for each 200 votes and fraction of 100 or more votes cast for the head of the Democratic Electoral ticket in the Presidential election in 1896, provided that each county shall have at least one delegate vote. All known Democrats and others who supported W. J. Bryan for President and those who pledge themselves to support the nominees of said State convention shall be entitled to participate in the county or legislative district conventions.

The Verdict says the Republican Legislature of New York, this year, "is the veriest Robber's Roost," that "it has been bribe and blackmail and sell the people to the highest bidder from the first. The black auction has never ceased. Night and day the inky flag of venal vendue hangs from the doors of legislation and tells of the vote purchasing that may take place within."

Why doesn't the Internal Improvement Committee give Second street, in Fifth and Sixth wards, a cleaning? It has been a year or so since the accumulation of dirt was removed, and now it is three or four inches deep in places—mud in wet weather and dust in dry weather. The dust is even more intolerable and a greater nuisance than the mud. During the dry weather last week people who traveled that street had to pass through a cloud of foul-smelling, disease-breeding dust. Not only that, but it finds its way into every residence on the street, causing the good housewives no end of work and worry. The street should receive a thorough cleaning, and that at once. It is the principal thoroughfare in that end of the city and surely Maysville can afford to have one clean street.

WORSE THAN WARS

Is Col. Wetmore's Opinion of Trusts.—Says It's Vital Issue Now Before the People.

CHICAGO, April 20.—Colonel M. C. Wetmore, until Tuesday President of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, of St. Louis, which on that day was transferred to the trust, in a signed statement to the Tribune this morning, more fully explains his position on trusts, as briefly outlined by him in his farewell address to the 3000 employees of the tobacco factory. He says:

"After all manufacturers in different lines are combined it doesn't require great stretch of the imagination to see these different combines getting together, under one management and becoming one huge trust, controlling all the commodities and fixing the prices of everything in common use. Such a combination would be stronger than the general Government itself.

"The trust system is more dangerous to the country than anything that now confronts use. In my judgment, all the wars that have ever been fought by the Government since its foundation do not equal in importance the gravity of the trust situation. The trust should be the leading issue in the next national political campaign, and the people may be relied upon to settle it, settle it rightly, as they have settled every great question that has been presented to them."

THE WALLACE SHOWS.

Friday, May 5th, is the Date of Their Appearance in Maysville.

This big circus institution has made a fine record, receiving words of praise from the press. The following is taken from a lengthy article which appeared in the Mt. Carmel (Pa.) Star:

"Space alone will not permit our giving credit that is justly due to the Great Wallace Circus. For good, honest, conscientious work they deserve a lot of good things said of them. The man that advertises his wares, and then gives even better than he contracts for, is a philanthropist and his name is 'few' and Mr. Wallace can be classed among these few.

"Why go into a lengthy dissertation on the individual features of the show? Their own press notices deal in that kind of goods and we know, now, that they are of a quality just a shade superior to what it is claimed for them. If mention must be made, the first to demand recognition would be the Nelson family. Their act is one whole show in itself, and storms of applause greet their work. They stand unsurpassed. A close second is found in the Storks, in their bicycle 'turn.' Their control of the silent steed must be seen to be appreciated."

Wallace's Shows comes to Maysville on Friday, May 5th.

Free Hairdressing.

Some one said once that you could get almost anything for nothing in New York. This was brought practically to my notice a few days ago, says a writer in the New York Herald, as I was going up town on Third avenue. I passed a barber shop which displayed this strange sign:

"Ladies' Hairdressing Done Free Every Afternoon From 1 to 5 o'clock." As it was past 3 I was prompted by curiosity to go in and investigate. I found the 'ladies' hairdressing parlor a neat, cozy place, with a number of chairs standing in front of a long mirror, which covered one side of the room.

I was fortunate enough to find a subject in the chair, who was having her hair dressed. She was a middle aged, thick handed, respectable looking woman, who was going to the inevitable ball. "Doing" her hair was a nice looking little woman, the head of the hairdressing establishment; and gathered around the chair were half a dozen white coated young men, watching the process of the work and occasionally giving assistance. And that is how the apprentice or student in hairdressing gains his experience, and the clever women who are in touch with the trick get their hair dressed for nothing.

The Prig and His Cane.

In the number of The Tatler for Oct. 6, 1709, it is observed that "a cane is part of the dress of a prig" (this, by the way, shows the erroneous notion prevalent that "priggishness" is a modern word) "and always worn upon a button, for fear he should be thought to have an occasion for it or be esteemed really and not genteelly a cripple."

In the number of Nov. 18 a rural squire in town is sketched who is the prototype of one of the pavement nuisances: "His arms naturally swung at an unreasonable distance from his sides, which, with the advantage of a cane that he brandished in a great variety of irregular motions, made it unsafe for any one to walk within several years of him."

And under date of Dec. 5 there is an amusing sketch of "a lively, fresh colored young man" who was among the applicants to Isaac Bickerstaff's court of censorship for license to use "canes, perspective glasses, snuffboxes, orange flower waters and the like ornaments of life." This young man had his cane hanging on his fifth button and was "an Oxford scholar who was just entered at the temple."—Gentleman's Magazine.

Froze the Quicksand.

"When I was out among the hills of northern India," said the major, "I had an experience that I wonder didn't turn my hair gray. I was camped all alone on the side of the Ganges and had occasion to go for some water. Before I knew where I was I had stepped right into a quicksand. I knew what was up at once and knew that I was gone. As I stood there with that horrible sand dragging at me like some living monster I turned colder and colder. Do what I could my teeth would keep on clattering, though I knew that every vibration of my jaw was shaking me farther down into that ready made grave. Suddenly I noticed that I had stopped sinking."

"Struck the bottom, eh?" "Certainly not; I had grown so cold from horror and fear—I may as well admit—that I actually froze the water in the quicksand."

Her Private Punch.

The women hurried along Adams street from the Art institute on their way to the Woman's Euchre club at Handel hall.

"Just run in with me here a minute," said one. "I've got to get me a punch."

The clerk showed a collection of punches that made holes of various shapes. "No," said the shopper. "I want just a simple, round punch—this size." And she abstracted a cardboard from her pocket that showed the size of the perforation.

"Oh, very well!" said the clerk. "We have it. But it's not called for very often for private games." And the punch was brought out and sold promptly.

The second woman wondered what her friend wanted of that particular punch, but kept her curiosity to herself. The game was exciting, and, as the friend is a good player, she won eight games. The second woman noticed this particularly. But when the score cards were exhibited the friend had 11 credit marks punched in her score card. The other woman saw then the wherefore of the particular punch they had bought. The friend had won eight games, and then had done a little punching with a private punch.

The prizes at these club contests are quite valuable, and the spirit of gambling has become so pronounced among some of the players that they are not above resorting to unfair means to capture them.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Her Evening Gown.

It is undeniable that foreign diplomats in Washington frequently find themselves at a loss owing to the novelties presented to them by American customs. Even the language offers difficulties.

Only the other day the Guatemalan minister was speaking to some Washington ladies of what he regarded as a remarkable social experience met with here at the capital. He had been invited to an afternoon reception.

"And do you know," he said, "the hostess received the guests in a nightgown!"

"Good heavens!" replied the ladies to whom this information was addressed. "Surely you are joking, Mr. Minister!"

"Not at all, I assure you," reiterated the diplomat. "It was in her nightdress that we were received—low neck and bare arms!"

"Oh, you mean evening dress, do you not, Mr. Minister?" suggested one of the ladies.

"Yes, that is what I mean," admitted Senor Arriaga; "low neck and bare arms, just like the costume for the opera or ball."

As may be imagined, the laugh was at the minister's expense. In Washington ladies quite commonly wear evening dress when giving afternoon receptions.—Boston Herald.

Feudalism in Hungary.

Inconceivable as the anachronism may seem to the western mind, the agrarian system of Hungary has not yet issued from the feudal form. The Hungarian farmer of today is virtually a serf, bound to his master, the hereditary owner of the soil which the peasant tills, by the tangible tie of personal liability. The Hungarian feudal lord of today is entitled to 50 days' labor from each male adult who dwells on his land. The seignior is at liberty to demand this feudal contribution at whatever time may seem best to him, with the frequent result that the tenant farmer is employed in gathering his master's harvest while his own crops are rotting after a rainfall or are being consumed by an early frost or suffer damage from one or more of the many possible causes which render destructive the slightest delay on the part of the harvester in gathering the fruits of a year's labor.—S. Ivan Todoroff in Arena.

"The Boot of Dukeronomy."

A nervous curate the other day announced from the reading desk, "Here beginneth the second chapter of the duke of Booteronomy." His vicar looked severely at him, and the young man blushed, coughed and repeated, "The boot of Dukeronomy."

There must have been germs of mispronunciation lurking in the air, for at a later period in the service the vicar read out, "I publish the manns of barriage," etc.

The curate beamed with satisfaction in spite of the solemnity of the occasion.—Household Words.

Exile Necessary.

Doctor—Your husband must have complete rest.

Wife—I know it. I talk to him seven or eight hours every day so as to keep his mind off business.

Doctor—On second thought, madam, I conclude that the one chance for your husband is to take him to the hospital with instructions that no one but the trained nurse and myself be admitted.—Detroit Free Press.

She Swept the Street.

A newly arrived Irish servant was installed in the home of a family on the west side last week, and on the first morning of service she was told to go out and sweep the sidewalk.

After an absence of something like an hour the housekeeper went out to see what had become of the new servant. She was seen way down at the end of the block hard at work. She had gone the block's length, and she said she didn't know where she was to stop.—New York Sun.

SPRING SILKS!

There are so many materials, all new, all pretty, clamoring for mention, we find it difficult to decide which shall be first. Better pick at random, so here goes. At $1, some exclusive patterns in striped and figured black silk. At $1, handsome black Taffeta, heavy quality, guaranteed not to cut. We will replace any waist or skirt that proves unsatisfactory in wear. At $1.45, white silk with sheering cord; very chic and new.

Maddening.

"I happen to have a dress coat," said a man about town, "that was made by Poole, the famous London tailor, and I've preserved it with a good deal of care. To tell the truth, I attached less value to the garment itself than I did to the sign manual of the house, emblazoned on a strip of white silk and stitched inside the collar. It was a trifle snobbish, I dare say, but if so I've received my punishment."

"A few weeks ago I took the coat along with me on a trip to Florida, and while at a small coast resort I noticed the buttons were getting worn. The only tailor in town was a Chinaman, and I gave him the coat with instructions to repair the damages, which he did very neatly. I had forgotten all about the incident, and one evening during carnival was at the club chatting with some visitors from Detroit when somehow or other the conversation turned on high art tailoring."

"One of the strangers sang the praises of a chap at his home, and I, like a fool, couldn't resist the temptation of remarking that my suit was made by Poole. Thereupon the other fellow expressed curiosity as to how the English tailors inserted the shoulder reinforcements of dress coats, and I obligingly slipped mine off to allow him to examine it. He looked it over, and when he handed it back I noticed that he wore a peculiar smile. It was no wonder, for, by Jove, in place of the signed silk strip below the collar was a great hideous pink tab bearing the legend, 'Charley One-Lung, Merchant Tailor, Wayback, Fla.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Gallipolis, O., April 24.—The fine summer residence of Colonel John L. Vance was totally destroyed by fire. The library, valued at $10,000, consisting of 6,000 volumes, and the residence, valued at $5,000, burned. Insurance about $7,000.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at J. J. Wood & Son's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

THE FEAST OF BARGAINS

in Clothing, Men's and Boys' Shoes and Men's Furnishings, set before the people, through Hechinger's retiring-from-business sale, has awakened an interest with the buying community that the conventional Clothing sales advertisement make impossible. It's a positive fact that customers from distances as far as fifty miles from Maysville are taking advantage of this sale. It is known that the stock consists of only first-class merchandise, and when considered that the reduction of prices enables the public to buy the high class goods Hechinger & Co. carry for less than ordinary goods sell elsewhere, it is no wonder that the storerooms are daily crowded. Thousands of dollars' worth of goods that were contracted for before Mr. Hechinger's conclusion to retire from business, are daily arriving. They share the same fate of those already in stock. They will be marked at prices that will make them sell.

On Wednesday our "HOP-KINS"

Force of Habit.

"Of course you can't imagine what curious experiences we have with sick people," confided a trained nurse. "I have just come from a very interesting case—a dear old lady, lovely in every way, but utterly unmanageable and unreasonable on the subject of early rising. The dear woman cannot turn over in her bed or put her hand to her head—she is fatally ill, poor creature—but she wakes me every morning at 5 o'clock to have her face and hands bathed and her cap changed. 'Oh, I groan, it is only 5 o'clock, Mrs. Lorrimer; that is too early for sick people to get awake! Let us have another little nap.'"

"No, no," she always answers; 'my father reared me to get up at 5 o'clock. I can't disobey my training. You must make my toilet. I mustn't sleep any longer.'"

"So I have to get awake, prepare the dear old lady for the day—80 years old she is, and weak and sick—just because she was reared by a father with abnormal ideas of rising time."

JURY WILL DISAGREE.

Speculation as to the Outcome of the Famous George Trial.

Canton, O., April 24.—Mrs. George had an uneventful Sunday in her jail cell. The officials limited the visitors who were admitted to her to the relatives who have been with her in court. There is general talk and speculation on what the verdict will be, and a general disposition to predict disagreement of the jury.

The arguments, which began at 10 o'clock, are expected to occupy all of Tuesday and probably will extend into Tuesday morning. The judge's charge will be delivered at or near noon Wednesday.

Our Exports and Imports.
Washington, April 24.—The fiscal year of 1898 was the banner year of the foreign trade of the United States, our exports being the largest ever recorded for a like period and our imports exceptionally small. The total value of our domestic exports reached the enormous amount of $1,210,291,913. On the other hand, the imports during 1898 were the smallest since 1885, their value being $616,049,654.

A Carlist Suspect.
Madrid, April 24.—One of the persons arrested by the Barcelona police on charge of being implicated in a Carlist plot describes himself as a general of brigade. The suspect most compromised is Senor Margenat, magistrate of the village of Sarardol. The police seized a quantity of documents, which indicated the intention of the conspirators to raise bands without the authority of Don Carlos.

Government Won.
Madrid, April 24.—The senatorial elections for the new cortes passed off tranquilly throughout the country. They resulted in giving the government a larger majority in the senate than it had secured in the chamber of deputies. It is reasserted in different reliable quarters that the attempts of Don Carlos to raise a loan on the security of his Italian and Austrian estates has failed.

Missouri Still Rising.

Kansas City, April 24.—The Missouri river has reached three inches above the danger line. The river is still coming up, and as the current is exceedingly strong serious damage to property in the lowlands may result. Men were kept busy driving the squatters to higher ground, and farmers and others spent the day moving their property and belongings to higher ground.

Steamers Collide.

Tacoma, April 24.—The steamship Glenogle crashed into the steamer City of Kingston off Brown's point, cutting the Kingston in two just abaft the boilers. The 12 passengers and crew of the Kingston were saved through the prompt action of officers of the Glenogle and Kingston and two ships lying in the harbor. So far as known no lives were lost.

Toledo, April 24.—Mayor Jones and his friends have decided not to go into the newspaper business. Soon after the election the mayor became interested in a project to start a morning newspaper in this city to further the municipal ownership idea, but the deal has fallen through.

Conspiracy Charged.

Cincinnati, April 24.—Barron, Boyle & Company, glass dealers, brought suit in supreme court under the anti-trust law against the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company for $50,000 damages, alleging conspiracy and discrimination against glass jobbers. It is charged that the defendants control the entire production, except two small factories.

Oldest Baptist Clergyman.

London, Ky., April 24.—Rev. Robert Ryland, 94, probably the oldest Baptist clergyman and educator in the United States, is dead. He was one of the pioneer educators of Virginia, 28 years president of Richmond college, and also pastor of the largest African church in the world, 3,000 members, nearly all Virginia slaves.

Georgia Troops Mustered Out.

Augusta, Ga., April 24.—The Third Georgia regiment, Colonel Robert L. Berner, was mustered out at Camp Mackenzie.

CARRY A FULL LINE OF PAINTS, VARNISH and BRUSHES?

U. S. PAINT is not a cheap substitute for white lead, but a mixture of Carbonate of Lead and Zinc combined with pure Linseed Oil on such a scientific principle as to produce a Paint that will resist the action of the elements and furnish a more durable coating than is possible to attain with Paint combined by the old style of mixing by hand. Full weight, full measure; every gallon guaranteed. One gallon will cover 300 square feet two coats. Measure up your house by the following rule, which will hold good if surface is in good condition:

Double sides and ends, add, multiply by height, divide by 300—
